

Lobbyists Told Rights Victory Is Now in Sight

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lobbyists for civil rights legislation redoubled their efforts today upon being told that "victory is in sight." But it was acknowledged that the votes to get a "meaningful" bill through Congress are far from certain.

Delegates to a strategy conference called by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sketched a route of conferences with Congress members.

Speaking to the conference Tuesday night, Victor Reuther acknowledged that a "larger number of converts" is needed, but said "we can see the light of victory."

Reuther is executive assistant to his brother Walter, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. United Auto Workers. Walter Reuther was to be the speaker but was delayed in getting here.

The great problem is how to get a bill past the expected Senate filibuster by Southerners. Clamping down on the filibuster would require a two-thirds majority—67 if an 100 senators voted.

"The way I count votes," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., "I think we've got 60 right now. Assuming the full membership is on the floor, we'll need seven more."

But Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., said he is "always more pessimistic than many of my friends" on mustering votes to end a filibuster.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., told NAACP delegates: "Anybody who says Republicans cannot be counted upon to help is not telling the truth." He figured that about one-third of the 33 Republican senators are firmly committed to all of President Kennedy's bill "and more too." Another third are against it, he said, and one third are undecided.

Scott remarked that no Republican in living memory has filibustered.

Negro Sought for Rape of Trio

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — Armed officers are maintaining a dusk-to-dawn patrol between the Negro and white sections of this southeast Florida coastal city, terrorized by a series of rapes.

Mayor John D. Steele said "a state of panic" exists and that the Negro section will be sealed off all night until the rapist is caught.

Three white women reported they were raped by a Negro in their homes during the past two weeks, and there were two other attempted rapes. Either other rapes and numerous attempts have been reported in recent months. The latest rape occurred Tuesday morning.

"He's a sick animal," the mayor said. "Let's pray to God we get him."

Steele added that his action was not taken against Negroes as a race.

"There are just as many sick animals in the white race as in the Negro race," he said.

Chicken Tariff War With the Common Market Likely Spells International Trade Troubles

GOP's Likely to Approve Test Treaty

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans have assessed the political implications of the limited market test and they most are expected to wind up voting for its ratification.

An influential Republican senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he and a majority of his colleagues have reached the conclusion that "we can't afford politically to vote against this treaty."

"There are a number of risks involved that I don't like to see us take as a nation," he said. "But if the Joint Chiefs of Staff say that, on balance, it is acceptable—and I believe they will—we won't have any choice but to support it."

He attributed this in part to what he called the "mother vote," women who have feared that nuclear fallout might result in deformed children and who believe the treaty may eliminate this danger.

As a result, the senator said, after extensive hearings beginning Monday he expects to see opposition virtually collapse.

Democratic leaders have said they are confident of getting the necessary support of two-thirds of those voting. But they have been wooing GOP backing in order to attain overwhelming approval.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has had 5,000 letters, divided equally for and against ratification.

Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday he had the Senate Republican Policy Committee staff poll the administrative assistants of 42 senators. He said the staff found 20 whose mail favored ratification, 14 whose mail opposed it and 8 evenly divided.

He said he had the survey made because of news stories saying White House mail was "lopsidedly" in favor of the treaty. Dirksen has delayed taking any stand on ratification.

Among 32 Republicans, Dirksen said, the mail was 14 to 12 favorable to the treaty, with 6 reporting a standoff. Among Democrats, he said the mail of six favored the treaty, that of two was opposed and that of two evenly divided.

The Republican leader said reaction ranged from 12-1 support of the treaty in a Democrat's mail to 9-1 against in one Republican's mail. He declined to identify any of the senators involved or to give their geographical location.

Another senator said, that most of the opposition mail was coming from the Midwest and Rocky Mountain states.

Girl to Tell All in British Case

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward's last girl friend said today she will give Lord Denning sensational new evidence in Britain's sex and security scandal.

"I received Stephen's last letter to me last night," said 22-year-old Julie Gulliver. "I can't say anything about it yet."

"But I intend to see Lord Denning this week with some new evidence that will be sensational."

Denning, a judge, is investigating security aspects of the affairs of Ward's protegee, call girl Christine Keeler, carried on simultaneously with former War Minister John D. Profumo and assistant Soviet naval attache Eugene Ivanov. Profumo resigned June 4 from Parliament and the government in disgrace. Ivanov returned to Moscow before the scandal broke.

Ward, convicted on two vice charges last week, died Saturday from an overdose of drugs. He told friends he was being made the scapegoat of the scandal that rocked Prime Minister Macmillan's government.

Recaptures Girl School Escapees

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Fred Miller of Garland County recognized a girl he knew was supposed to be in the state Training School for Girls Tuesday night and arrested three of six girls who escaped from the school Monday night.

He said two of them escaped again while his attention was diverted, but the two were arrested at second time in Mountain Pine. Authorities still were searching for the other three escapees.

EDITOR'S NOTE

The United States says it will retaliate against the European Common market for boosting tariffs against U.S. poultry. The action raises new fears that international trade is in trouble. The following story analyzes developments.

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The lowly chicken is causing an international fight.

The United States, after weeks of wrangling with the European Common Market, announced on Tuesday it will retaliate against tariff increases on American poultry.

The government, if a settlement is not reached, will raise duties against European products to equal the loss of $46 million a year in American poultry exports.

The U.S. move would affect the prices Americans pay for imports, but the dollar amount isn't nearly as important as what the action means. The lost poultry sales are only a fraction of the $5.6 billion worth of U.S. goods exported to European Common Market countries each year.

The move reflects a new American attitude and tactic — a get-tough policy. It also reflects these newly complicated circumstances in world trade.

—The Common Market has asserted itself as a strong-willed equal in trade dealings with the United States.

Europe's farm blocs have made it clear they are keeping a sharp eye out for their own interests, which often clash with those of America.

Europe, having trouble working out its own agricultural policy, has resisted U.S. efforts to link agricultural and industrial products in trade talks.

Protectionist sentiment in the United States—in the shoe and textile industries especially — shows signs of rallying. Some trade observers question the wisdom of retaliation. They say the situation is far too complicated to be solved merely by acting tough.

Others agree with Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., that the United States might be "out-traded and sold down the river unless we adopt a hard line."

This kind of tariff raising reverberates around the Non-Com-

Military Pay Boost Passed by Senate

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has approved unanimously a pay raise for practically everyone in the armed forces except recruits, apprentice seamen and privates with less than two years service.

The measure, which would increase military payrolls more than $1.2 billion a year, goes to the House, which has passed a similar but slightly less generous bill.

Usually a Senate-House conference committee works out differences between similar bills. But Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., who steered the pay raise through the Senate Tuesday by an 84-0 vote, said he hopes a conference will not be necessary this time and that the House will accept the Senate bill.

The decision on what the House will do probably rests with Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who rules with a firm hand.

The Senate and House bills would provide increases to most active duty personnel, to reservists and National Guardsmen and to those drawing military retirement pay.

The Senate version would cost $1,227,330,000 a year, about $5 million more than that of the House.

The increases—the first since 1958—would begin Oct. 1 under the Senate bill.

Under the Senate bill, enlisted men would get boosts of $5 to $120 monthly. Raises for officers would range from $60 to $120 monthly.

The Senate and House bills would provide similar increases for the U.S. Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service, which base their pay on military schedules. This would cost the taxpayers an additional $30,084,000 annually.

Both would provide the largest dollar and percentage raises for lieutenants, captains, majors and lieutenant colonels among officers and corporals, sergeants and other skilled technicians in the enlisted grades.

But the Senate bill would apply some of these boosts to young officers and noncoms with less than two years service and give them larger increases at times in their careers when they face the decision of re-enlisting or returning to civilian life.

The House version would limit pay increases to active personnel with more than two years service. Its theory was that many short termers are merely serving out an obligation resulting from the draft.

Approved for the first time by both Senate and House is an extra $55 a month for any officer or enlisted man on cold war duty who is subject to enemy fire or similar hazard in such places as Viet Nam and South Korea.

Butler Family to Hold Reunion

Descendants of Thomas Christopher Butler will hold their annual reunion on Sunday, August 25 at the Old Union Church on Highway 53. The program will start at 10 a.m. and continue all day with lunch on the church grounds at 12 noon.

The sheriff's office in Osceola said there were no injuries. The Arkansas Chemical Co. of El Dorado, which owned the truck, sent two company officials to the area in a plane.

A spokesman for the chemical company said the bromine could be fatal if breathed in quantity. It is used for insecticides, as a gasoline additive, in drugs and in numerous other ways.

The spokesman said Frank C. Williams of El Dorado, the truck driver, veered into a ditch trying to avoid hitting an oncoming vehicle. Williams suffered only a small cut on the arm. The company said that as far as it knew, no one else was injured.

The truck was on its way to Filer City, Mich., when the wreck occurred at 5:40 a.m.

Washington Man Involved in Wreck

Troy E. Bland, 40, Texarkana, suffered lacerations and a possible back injury yesterday when the jeep which he was driving collided with a trailer truck on Highway 67, near Texarkana.

State Trooper Glen Owens said Bland was making a left turn off the highway when he and the truck collided. The driver of the truck, Wayne Boyette of Washington, Ark. was not injured.

Truck Load of Chemical Blocks Road

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP)—A chemical truck loaded with dangerous bromine overturned at Frenchman's Bayou, 25 miles south of Osceola early today, spilling the chemical onto U.S. Highway 61.

Firemen sprayed the area with water and traffic was re-routed onto unfinished Interstate Highway 61.

The sheriff's office in Osceola said there were no injuries. The Arkansas Chemical Co. of El Dorado, which owned the truck, sent two company officials to the area in a plane.

A spokesman for the chemical company said the bromine could be fatal if breathed in quantity. It is used for insecticides, as a gasoline additive, in drugs and in numerous other ways.

Area Firemen Undergoing Training

The Hope Fire Department is host this week and next to nearly 100 firemen of eight towns in this area who are receiving instruction each night at the local fire station.

Hope Fire Chief Ray Yocom said that emphasis is on proper procedures for control and extinguishment of "special problem fires" encountered in the burning of flammable liquids, L. P. gases, chemicals and explosives.

Activities at tonight's and tomorrow night's sessions will include actual practice on full-scale butane and propane gas fires, according to Yocom. He said that the fires will be fought on the vacant lot at Second and Laurel streets. "The public is invited," the chief said, "but because of the hazardous nature of these materials we urge all spectators not to approach closer than the sidewalks on the south side of Second street and the west side of Laurel street."

The two week training program is being conducted by the Fire Service Training Division of the state Education Department with activities under the direction of Whit Murphy and Ralph Scanlin, both state fire instructors.

"The practice fires tonight and tomorrow night will be spectacular and adaptable for color or black and white picture taking," Yocom said.

Next week's information and instruction will be on structural fires, specialized fire fighting operations, characteristics of fog streams, requirements for extinguishing fires in buildings, and producing and applying master fog streams.

Chief Yocom said that the program here marks the ninth consecutive year that Hope has been selected as the firemen's training hub for this region.

100 Degrees in Parts of State

Arkansas' current heat wave peaked Tuesday with 100-plus degree reports from five points. Today's forecast called for more 100-degree readings.

It was cool, however, compared to last year when the state record for this date — 106 degrees — was set.

Port Smith and Ozark recorded 101 degrees and Clarksville, Fayetteville and Gilbert reported 100 Tuesday. Isolated showers gave little relief. No rain was recorded at any of the Weather Bureau's regular stations.

Isolated showers remain in the forecast through Thursday. The only break in sight is a probability that drier air will move into the state, cutting down on the humidity and allowing slightly cooler night temperatures.

Minimum reports in the mid 70s were common last Tuesday night. The five day forecast calls for temperatures near normal highs of 90-95 and normal lows of 67-71.

Testifies Grid Data Could Help

ATLANTA (AP) — A Georgia football coach testified in the third day of the $60 million Wally Butts libel suit that pre-game knowledge of an opposing team's formation would be important.

Youthful Frank Inman, offensive backfield coach at Georgia, said Wednesday that notes of an alleged telephone conversation between Butts and a rival coach contained descriptions of Georgia's basic playing formations for the 1962 season.

Butts is suing Curtis Publishing Co. for an article in the Saturday Evening Post, published by Curtis, charging that Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama rigged the game between their schools last September. The Post said an insurance salesman listened in on a telephone conversation and took notes.

"I think any information about football from a reliable source would be helpful," Inman said.

"Could any information contained in these notes have been helpful to Alabama?"

"Yes."

Inman and Head Coach Johnny Griffith, who returned briefly to the stand, said that the notes which insurance salesman George P. Burnett said he took, showed Georgia's formations practiced in secret prior to the 1962 opener against Alabama.

Haiti Leaders Claim Invaders Are Wiped Out

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Haitian troops have crushed a small force of rebel invaders on the North Coast, official sources said today.

A formal announcement of the defeat of the insurgents was expected later in the day.

There were indications from other sources that the invasion attempt had failed.

By BERNARD DIEDERICH

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Gen. Leon Cantave was reported leading his Haitian rebel invaders in a south-west thrust beyond Cap-Haitien today, apparently trying to cut off the north coast and northwest part of the Negro republic.

President Francois Duvalier airlifted at least 150 soldiers from Port Au Prince over the rebel lines to the vicinity of Cap-Haitien, Associated Press correspondent Robert Berrelez reported from the Haitian capital.

The approximately 500 invaders, their ranks reportedly swelled by Haitian army deserters, were said to be advancing in two columns after apparently deciding against storming Cap-Haitien, 90 miles north of Port Au Prince.

An unconfirmed report said another rebel force had landed at St. Marc, a port about 40 miles northwest of Port Au Prince and due southwest of Cap-Haitien, Haiti's second largest city.

Duvalier is known to have a strong post at Hinche, an inland city midway between Port Au Prince and Cap-Haitien but separated from St. Marc by mountains.

In Washington, the Council of the Organization of American States Tuesday ordered its special committee on the earlier Dominican crisis.

Pact Could Mean Step-up in Business

By Sam Dawson

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Signing of the nuclear test ban treaty may give some defense industries pause but could mean stepped up activities in others.

So many strong spots are reported elsewhere that the business world seems largely expectant of an increased, if moderate, gain in the total economy after Labor Day.

The treaty still has a long road to go in the U.S. Senate. And the skepticism expressed by many Americans as to the reliability of Russian promises could assure increased spending in forms of defense untouched by the treaty—to be ready just in case, and to meet pressure in other forms of the cold war.

Total disarmament—with its cancellation of defense orders—isn't a factor yet in any but the most long-range economic planning.

Defense Department appropriations aren't involved in any important degree, at least at present.

Rising government spending as a whole, however, is a sure thing. Corporation economists as a whole, are bounting on this as one of the factors sure to bolster the economy in coming months.

The spending is going up at state and local levels as well as federal—as many taxpayers are well aware.

Even more important is the continuing large outpourings from consumers' purses and a moderate, but reassuring, rise in business spending for new equipment and plants.

Such outlays by business in recent years are now paying dividends, as the current reports of increased profits show.

The new equipment is turning out more goods per man hour, then cutting production costs faster than wage scales have been rising.

Thanks largely to the high rate of auto sales, consumers have been increasing their total of installment debt.

Some economists worry about the stretching of payment periods in some areas, but most consider the credit gains on a firm basis.

Installment debt has become a much-watched indicator of consumer psychology. It goes up when confidence is widespread. And consumer confidence is basic to economic growth.

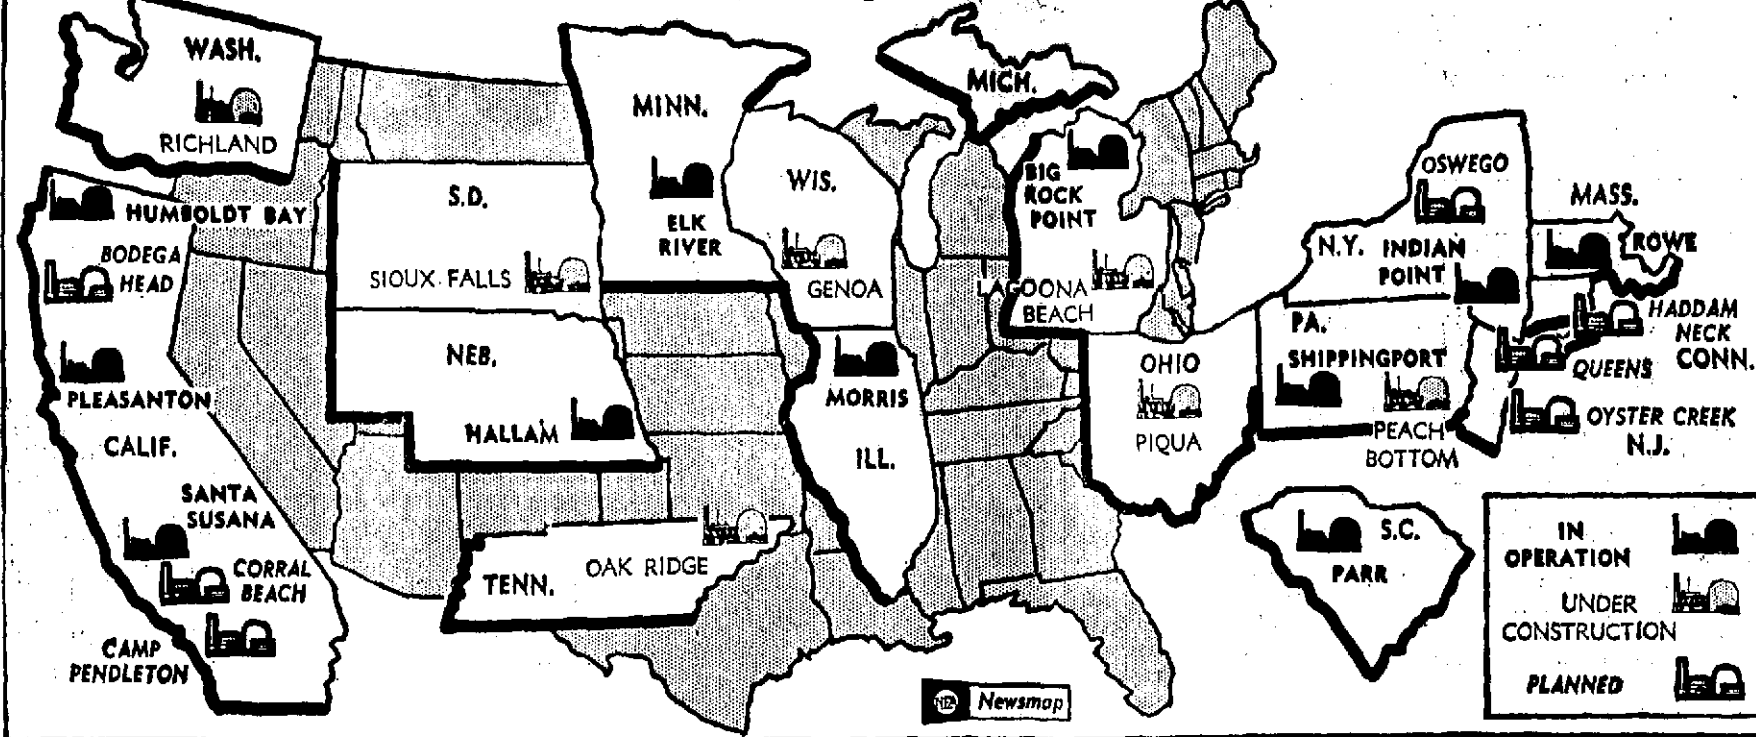

With consumer, business and government spending all tending to rise, the outlook for the fall months is bright.

Side With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas' four U.S. congressmen sided with the majority Tuesday as the House defeated 217-181 an amendment to bar education funds from segregated schools. Voting against the bill were Reps. E. C. Gathings, Oren Harris and Wilbur Mills. Rep. James Trimble was recorded against the measure, but did not actually vote.

—NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS—

How the Atom Is Being Harnessed in America

Over 20 years since the first controlled nuclear chain reaction and six years after the first commercial reactor went into operation at Shippingport, Pa., atomic power plants are beginning to sprout over the face of America. As Newsmap shows, there are 25 commercial plants either in operation, under construction or in the planning stages. There is also one being built in Puerto Rico. They range from a small 11,400-kilowatt plant in Piqua, Ohio (first city to have its own nuclear power plant), to a one-million-kilowatt plant planned for the New York City Borough of Queens. While still more expensive than conventional methods of generating electricity, atomic power is narrowing the gap by constant improvements. The Atomic Energy Commission estimates that it will be fully competitive within five years, ushering in the much talked about day of cheap and abundant energy liberated by man's genius from the atom.

READER'S COMPLAINT

Editor The Star:
I have just seen a repeat of a thing that irked me last year. I opened my paper to read the ads and find that the big "side-walk sale" of the year has been and gone. The stores advertise once and we good customers of Blevins and outlying communities don't get our papers until 9 a.m. or later. By the time we housewives get lunch finished and sit down to read the paper the sale is over.

I don't think this is fair and I'm sure other out-of-Hope customers have felt the same.

Will you please see if you can get your advertisers to put the ad in one day earlier next year?

ARA Cold Grab for More Power

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The legislative director of the American Farm Bureau Federation said Tuesday that the Area Redevelopment Administration was "expensive" and another grab for power by the federal government.

John C. Lynn, speaking to leaders of the state's county farm bureaus at the 17th Officers and Leaders Training Conference in Hot Springs, said he feared increasing centralization of the federal government would destroy some of the basic concepts of the United States.

He said the Farm Bureau was opposed to tax reduction without a reduction in government expenditures and asked Arkansans to let Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, know of their feelings.

In That Serene Office There Is Likely to Be a Feud That Rivals the Hatfields, McCoys

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average business office today is pictured as a place full of team spirit, where everybody selflessly labors for the good of the corporation.

The truth is, however, that beneath the serene surface lurk feuds every bit as venomous as the one that split the Hatfields and the McCoys.

The reason there are so few murders in the office is that it is difficult for the employees to stab each other to death with the only weapons readily available—paper clips.

What lies behind these wordless antagonisms? If you check your own office, you might find the following feuds typical:

The second vice president is miffed at the first vice president because the first vice president has one more window in his office than the second vice president has in his.

In 1942, the sales manager borrowed $1.50 in lunch money from the assistant treasurer and forgot to pay it back. The assistant treasurer hasn't spoken to him since.

In 1938 the personnel director asked pretty young Miss Maria O'Callahan to stay late to type a couple of letters when she was trying to hurry to meet her date. The date didn't wait for her, and Miss O'Callahan now thinks, 25 years afterward, that it is the personnel director's fault she became an old maid.

Mrs. Adele Rankle, secretary to the boss, glares frigidly every time Ronald Adenold, the stock room clerk, thumps a package of copy paper on her desk. She remembers that, back in 1954, Ronald, then a brash new office boy, told her to go fly a kite when she asked him to please clean out her pencil sharpener.

Every girl in the office snubs Gerald Pincher, the tightwad bachelor playboy, because he lives up to his name. He always tries for a free pinch—never takes them out to dinner.

Elmer Eager, the eagle-eyed efficiency expert, pads constantly about the desks in tight-lipped quest like a mute ferret. He is sure each employee is getting away with something he shouldn't—and Elmer is furious because he can't find out what it is.

Everybody turns a cold shoulder to Harry Smiley, the cheerful executive trainee. He is the only one who can tell jokes that make the boss laugh, and the rest of the staff are sure Harry is trying to grin his way to the top.

Abner Craggy, the office grouch, hasn't spoken to anyone since 1939, the year he got his last merit raise, and all he said then was, "Well, it could have been more."

Yep, that's the office gang, just one big scrappy family. Snarling onward and upward together. It's their feuds that give the spirit to the place.

Hurst's Tax Accountant to Testify

By LEN TALIAFERRO

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—James J. Dowds of Hot Springs, the accountant who prepared state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst's 1956 income tax return, was expected to return to the witness stand today in Hurst's tax trial in federal District Court.

Dowds testified Tuesday that he never looked at the books of Hurst's law practice, nor of his purported Angus farm, Hazelhurst, but relied entirely on data supplied by Hurst in preparing the tax return.

Hurst, 45, is charged with "willfully and knowingly" attempting to evade $22,912 in income taxes for the years 1956-59. The government contends among other things that he failed to report a "substantial amount of legal fees."

Dowds said he computed a tax of $2.19 for Hurst in 1956. The government says Hurst should have paid $4,349.

Four of Hurst's former secretaries testified about procedures followed in receiving payments from clients and recording them. They were Joan Baldwin, Martha Heinemann, Jan Burnett and Stella Hines. All four testified that Hurst had never instructed them not to account for any money or checks.

Financial statements given by Hurst to the Arkansas Bank and Trust Co., of Hot Springs were introduced as evidence for the prosecution. One, dated March 6, 1959, listed assets of $224,500 and liabilities of $81,300 for a net worth of $143,200. Another statement, dated April 12, 1960, listed assets of $307,300 and liabilities of $42,325 for a net worth of $264,975.

Defense Attorney William H. Bowen of Little Rock objected to use of the two statements, but Judge John E. Miller allowed them to be introduced, explaining to the jury that they did not necessarily indicate Hurst's net worth.

Earlier in the day, the name of former underworld figure Owen (Owney) Madden who moved to Hot Springs in the 1930s, was injected into the trial when the government introduced a $250 check sisal plantations near Phenon were believed in no immediate danger.

Reports reaching the U.S. State Department said the Americans did not pull out. Gilon Curtis Jr., U.S. charge d'affaires in Port au Prince, advised the State Department he contacted the families and "they seem to be experiencing no problem as the result of any military operations in the vicinity."

GE Unions Ask Wage Increases

NEW YORK (AP)—Two unions have asked for annual wage increases of 3 1/2 per cent for the 81,000 General Electric Co. employees they represent in 72 plants throughout the nation.

The demand was laid before company representatives as collective bargaining negotiations opened Monday on new three-year contracts with the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the United Electrical Workers (UUE).

Negotiations resume today. The IUE asked the company to restore a cost-of-living escalator clause dropped by the contract three years ago.

Philip D. Moore, the company's chief negotiator, had promised to "do everything in our powers to assure that employees have no valid reason to strike."

But Moore warned in a statement: "The new facts of domestic and foreign competition simply wouldn't permit us to try to 'buy' our way out."

Bond in Slaying

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Union Circuit Judge Gus W. Jones, presiding over a habeas corpus hearing Tuesday, set bond at $25,000 for James V. Murphy, 39, of El Dorado, who is charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting July 4 of James F. Hays, 46, a neighbor.

that Hurst wrote to Madden on Jan. 6, 1960.

Hurst told reporters during a recess that his bank account became overdrawn while he was out of town and that Madden wrote a $250 check to cover the overdraft. He said he paid Madden back with the Jan. 6 check.

Hurst said Madden was a personal friend and had lent him money "many times."

Bowen said Madden would be called later as a defense witness to tell about these loans.

Baptists Have Suggestion for Wallace

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine suggested Tuesday that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace might read Paul's dissertation on love in I Corinthians and the parable of the good Samaritan in Luke in the Alabama public schools.

Wallace said recently he would read the Bible in the schools in defiance of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision prohibiting mandatory Bible reading and prayer in public schools.

Other texts suggested by the Baptist publication were:

I John 4:20, "If a man say, 'I love God,' and hateth his brother, he is a liar: For he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?"

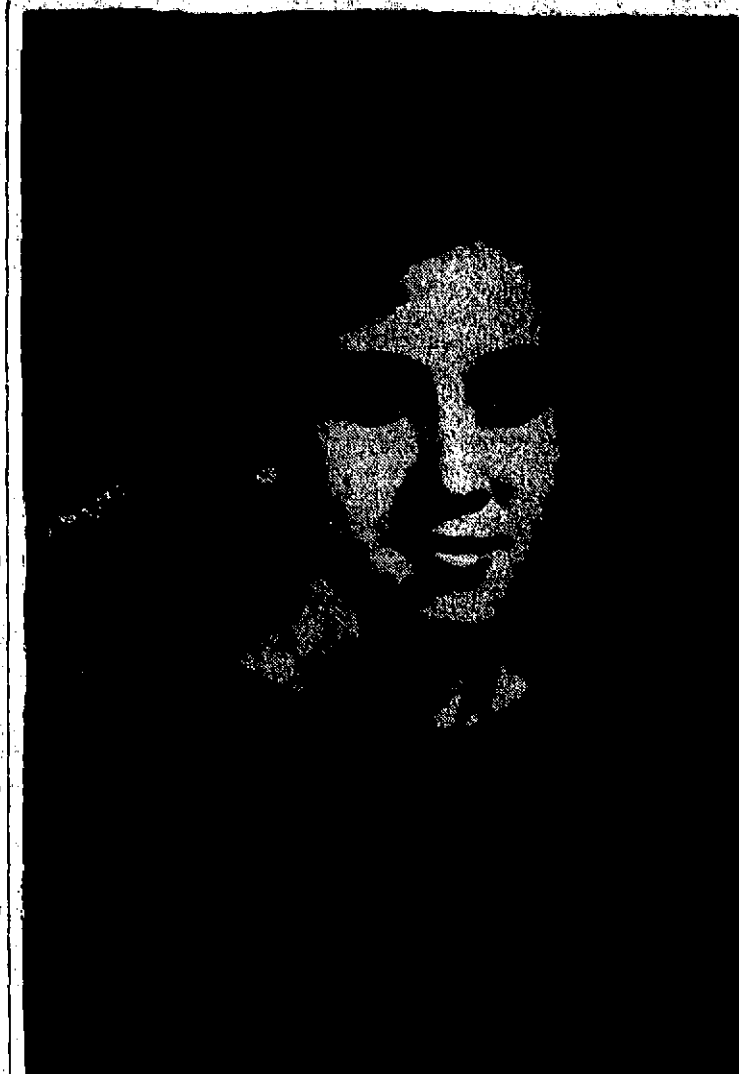

Acts 10:34-35, "Then Peter opened his mouth and said, 'Of a truth, I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation, he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness is accepted by Him.'"

John 13:34-35, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another as I have loved you; that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love, one to another."

Students to Be Told of Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military base commanders in Arkansas and 14 other Southern states were told by the Pentagon Tuesday to advise servicemen of their children's constitutional right to attend a local school on a non-racial basis.

Norman S. Paul, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, instructed the commander of each base to report the action he has taken by Aug. 30.

DOROTHY DIX

HUSBAND BETRAYS HIS ANXIETIES

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: I'm a good wife, mother and homemaker but everything I do is wrong in my husband's eyes.

He tells me how to cook when he can't even boil water. Every time I wash the dishes, scrub the floors, or clean house I get a lecture on how it should be done. It's talk, talk, talk about my mistakes from the time he comes home till he goes to bed.

You let us be invited to a friend's home, or ask people here and he'll sit mum as an oyster, the whole evening long. Once we're alone he'll say, "What dumb-bells they were!" It's always my friends he criticizes, never his.

When I stop and shop after work, or go see my parents, he scolds. If I answer back, there's one big fight.

I would leave him but fear what he might do to me. Besides, I don't want to disgrace the children. They're all grown, married and have fine jobs. I never had to scold or spank them for they could be reached by just talking and reasoning with them.

My husband has his good points; kind to the kids, popular with his friends, but when it comes to me—well, there's a different story. Can you advise on how to deal with a man like this?—Hope

Dear Hope: While there's hope, there's still a spark of life left in your marriage. The satisfaction of raising a fine family must make it seem worthwhile, even though your husband is in a fault-finding phase right now.

His constant petty criticism of you is a symptom of a deep dissatisfaction within himself.

Since you are the person closest to him, you become the target for his barbs. At work he cannot vent his spleen without jeopardizing his job. At home though, especially when no one else is present, he can release all his inner conflicts by lashing out at you. If he didn't have you as his whipping girl, he'd probably resort to a far more damaging outlet for frustrations. Scratch beneath the surface of a chronic fault-finder and you will invariably find some gnawing anxiety about himself or his work.

Something basic is bothering your husband, and it's not the way you scrub the floor or wash the dishes. Your duty as his wife is to try to find out what it is. You may have to exercise considerable tact and diplomacy to uncover the trouble. And, above all, you'll need to convey to him the love and sympathy which he desperately wants in spite of unpleasant manifestations to the contrary. He is a very unhappy man and needs your support now more than ever before.

The psychological paradox of human behavior is such that our actions are often the exact opposite of our innermost feelings. After or living together for a number of years, married couples develop a sort of radar sensitivity to each other's problems. Like the visible part of an iceberg, irrational, objectionable behavior shows up clearly on the radar screen, but seven eighths of the danger lies beneath the surface. Plumbs the depths! Give your "Back seat driver" a stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: Whenever a boy comes to see me, my mother acts like a hen with a baby duckling. She won't let me out of her sight. If I so much as walk to the corner with a boy she acts as if I'd committed a cardinal sin.

I know the difference between right and wrong. My special boy friend and I find it difficult to talk before her—not that we have any secrets, but her very presence makes us tongue-tied. And when he leaves, what a lecture I get on sex! If I try to talk to her about this she loses her temper: What shall I do? Please print this and your answer, she'd kill me if she knew I had written you.—Confused

Dear Confused: While hens don't usually raise ducklings, the chief role of the mother hen is to guard her young ones from the fox and hawk, or whatever other treat exists in fact or in her imagination. Remember, too, that your mother was once your age. She may have learned something then that makes her over-protective. You can't change this, you can only try to understand it. If you manage to hold a boy's interest under the handicap of constant surveillance, you will be a bride soon enough. Write me when your daughter is your age, and tell me how you feel about early dating without adult supervision.

Have you a problem perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Helen: When I buy gifts and cards for my mother, my fiancée wants me to send them as coming from her, too. Should I do this? We're not yet married and it's my money that pays for the cards and gifts.—Johnny

Dear Johnny: Your fiancée is

Time Running Out on Haiti Dictator

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

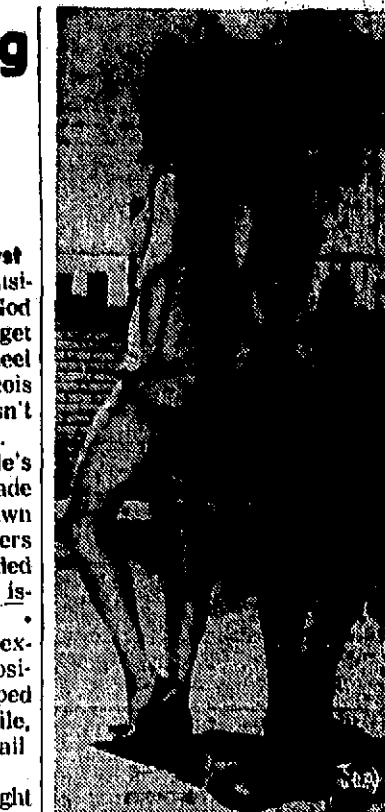

WASHINGTON (AP)—In Louisiana there's an old saying: "God hates ugly." It means you'll get yours in time, if you're a heel or you hurt people. Yet Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier, who isn't pretty, is still Haiti's dictator.

But time is running out. He's had trouble a-plenty. He's made plenty. Monday before dawn about 500 exiled Haitian officers and soldiers reportedly landed and started an invasion of this island which Columbus liked.

If this flops, Duvalier can expect something else. His opposition within Haiti has been chopped to pieces by mass arrests, exile, murder, and political blackmail. He's too hated to sleep well.

Last month young rebels fought his regime in the mountains until they were crushed. He had a crisis in April with an army plot against him. It failed. But his army suffered. Top officers fled.

He doesn't trust his army, about 5,000 men trained mainly in police work. He has his own militia, the dreaded Ton-Ton Ma-couts (Creole for bogeymen). He had a crisis with the United States too.

He was elected in 1957, supposedly for seven years, not because he was loved but because Haiti's Negro masses had to choose between Duvalier, a Negro, and his opponent, a mulatto. The bitterness between Negroes, mostly illiterate, and the better-educated mulattoes goes back almost to the beginning of the country.

But when his term was up May 15, he decided to stay a few years more. He claimed that an election two years ago legally extended his rule. This country was self-conscious anyway for having supported this dictator, the worst in Latin America. So it suspended diplomatic relations with him. This was an empty gesture.

He crushed his opponents and kept office. Then, even though the State Department said he had imposed a reign of terror, it resumed relations with him June 3.

But Duvalier pulled Uncle Sam's whiskers, a popular tactic in Haiti which remembers that U.S. Marines occupied the country from 1915 to 1934. Duvalier demanded that Ambassador Raymond L. Thurston be withdrawn. The United States withdrew him.

Duvalier had had trouble with the United States before that. Last March he threw out Marine Col. Robert Heintz, former boss of the U.S. military mission in Haiti.

Heintz angered Duvalier a year ago by writing a letter—which leaked out—to army chief of staff Col. Jean Rene Boucaut. Heintz allegedly deplored Duvalier's downgrading of the regular army in favor of a civilian militia and demanded that the militia be dissolved. It wasn't.

Duvalier began a purge that ousted or exiled almost all his pro-U.S. officers, who could have led a move to overthrow him. He got even tougher. He ordered the U.S. Navy and Air Force missions to leave Haiti. The last left July 26. Remaining in Port au Prince are only the U.S. military attaché, Major John Warren, and seven Marine guards.

The country is in bad shape. Its finances are suffering. Government employees are discontented with their pay cut. Private and public investment

Little Spent in Arkansas

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Government officials said Tuesday that Arkansas firms received only $108,177 worth of the $100 million in contracts awarded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in June.

Only Utah, with $29,635 in contracts, was below Arkansas. Contracts were awarded in 32 states.

California firms landed more than $50 million worth of the contracts, and Alabama firms got $22,657,113 worth.

The contracts were awarded in NASA's space vehicle development programs controlled through Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Camp Robinson Use to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the House Tuesday a bill to permit the Arkansas State Board of Education to continue use of 9.8 acres at Camp Robinson at North Little Rock.

The land was conveyed to the state in 1950 for educational uses but it later was discovered that the property must still be used primarily for training National Guard troops.

The bill would remove this restriction and permit the state to continue storing surplus education, public health and civil defense supplies there.

has disappeared in the past two years. So has tourism, which produced roughly $8 million a year, about a quarter of the national budget. American dollar aid has been withdrawn. Beggars are everywhere.

Haiti's 4 million people, in a country the size of Maryland, live 300 to a square mile.

Columbus called the island—now divided into Haiti and the Dominican Republic—Hispaniola. But Haiti, the Indian word for Place of mountains, stuck. Columbus loved the simple, gentle Indians he found there. He said "they love their neighbors as themselves."

Within 30 years most of the Indians were dead. When the Spaniards moved out, the French moved in. So did pirates, and Haiti was used as an unloading wharf for slaves from Africa.

In 1804 the slaves rose up, killed or drove out the whites, set up their own government, and chose an illiterate slave who had led them, Gen. Jean Jacques Dessalines, governor for life. He had himself crowned emperor, said "I, only I, am noble."

The island has had a bloody history of dictatorship, with very few good intervals, ever since.

In 1915 President Wilson set the Marines in and took over the country. Various reasons have been given, like wanting to keep the Germans from setting up a base there. President Roosevelt withdrew the Marines in 1934.

The Americans practiced racial discrimination, not only against the Negro masses but also against the mulattoes, who considered themselves the elite. If all Haitians do not love the United States, it's no wonder.

Mays' Hitting Keeps Giants in Flag Race

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

He may have been Woeful Willie for a while, but there's no doubt that he's once again the Magnificent Mays.

Willie admitted at All-Star Game time that he was pretty woeful about his sub-par .271 batting average, far below his .315 lifetime mark and one of his poorest half-year showings in the majors.

But the San Francisco Giant centerfielder in the last few weeks has been the Mays of old. At the moment he's in one of his periodic batting binges, with a 10-game streak in which he's batting .400.

That spurt has boosted his average to .290 and has helped keep the Giants in the running in the National League.

Willie had three hits, including a triple, and scored once Tuesday in the Giants' 3-1 victory over Houston, which kept them in a tie with St. Louis for second place, five games back of leading Los Angeles.

Dodgers kept their lead with a 4-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. St. Louis held off New York's Mets 4-3. Pittsburgh blanked Milwaukee 3-0 and Cincinnati and Philadelphia split the Reds in the first 6-4 in 10 innings and the Phillies the nightcap 7-1.

In the American League, New York split with Washington, losing the opener 8-5 and winning the nightcap 1-0 on Stan Williams' one-hitter. Baltimore beat Cleveland 6-4. Detroit bombed Boston 10-1. Kansas City edged Chicago 4-3 and Minnesota beat Los Angeles 5-1.

Mays' three-hit performance against the Colts gave him six hits in the last two games and 18 for 45 in his current streak. In that stretch, he has scored 13 runs driven in 11 and had two doubles, two triples and six homers, boosting his season total to 28.

Jim Duffalo, 4-0, stopped the Colts on six hits, but needed the sharp relief help of Don Larsen in the ninth.

Shortstop Maury Willis stroked four straight hits, including a double in leading the Dodgers over the Cubs. Don Drysdale won his 14th.

St. Louis had 11 hits, but had to work hard to stand off the Mets, who were down 4-1 but scrambled back. The Cards scored their first run on a fielder's choice when Stan Musial beat a throw to first on a potential double play grounder and their second on a wild pitch. The third was set up by a wild pitch and the fourth was moved into position by a base on balls.

No Stars Are Good Enough for Tourneys

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie/Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's possible that Harvey Snodgrass has played more tennis than any man alive. It's certain that Harvey Snodgrass has played tennis with more movie stars than any man alive.

Who is Harvey Snodgrass? He's a tennis instructor and has been for high on 35 years.

Among his students have been most of the movie industry's leading stars.

His most regular student is Katharine Hepburn, who has been playing the game with Harvey since 1932.

"She comes every morning at 9," he said. "She can't play any later because the sun hurts her fair skin."

Harvey is a benign-looking 67 but he is anything but grandfatherly when he steps on the court.

Born in Lacrosse, Wis., he came to Los Angeles in 1901 and took up tennis at Manual Arts High School. He won several championships, including the national clay court doubles.

After turning pro, he helped organize tennis clubs, then turned to teaching.

"His best players?" "Errol Flynn among the men," he said. "Katharine Hepburn of the women. But none of the stars could really be considered tournament possibilities."

"Most of them took up tennis because it was a fad, the thing to do. They didn't have the time to really train to be good players. Most of all, they didn't have the concentration. Actors are always thinking about their business."

Harvey is an example of the therapeutic qualities of tennis. "Golf and polo can strain your sacroiliac," he said. "Tennis doesn't. Age doesn't matter; you can play tennis as hard as you want. Me, I don't play eight hours a day any more. Five or six hours is all. When I get tired, I quit."

Williams Hurls One-Hitter in Yankee Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hoyt Wynn, the 40-year-old knuckleball specialist on whose aging arm rest the American League hopes of the Chicago White Sox, confused batter, catcher and official scorer alike in a 4-3 loss to Kansas City Tuesday night.

The score was tied 3-3 going into the bottom of the ninth when Wynn let go with a flutterball that flew past batter Gino Cimoli for a third strike and flicked past Camilo Carreon and his oversized catcher's mitt for what was scored a passed ball.

Cimoli wound up on first and Wynn wound up under a shower after another wild pitch. Cimoli eventually scored the decisive run on a single by George Alusik off Jim Brunson and promptly told the official scorer the pitch on which he struck out was four feet wide of the plate.

The passed ball ruling was changed and Wynn was credited with another wild pitch to go along with his 2-7 record and 2.90 earned run average. And that is part of the reason the White Sox trail front-running New York by eight games.

The Yankees got a brilliant pitching performance from Stan Williams, who hurled 1-0, one-hit shutout over Washington after the Senators won the opener of a twi-nighter 8-5 on a four-homer barrage against Whitey Ford.

Third-place Baltimore, 8 1/2 back, whipped Cleveland 6-4 as Jim Gentile drove in four runs with a pair of homers. Detroit rookie George Smith collected a triple and two doubles in a 10-1 walloping of Boston and Minnesota downed the Los Angeles Angels 5-1.

The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-1. San Francisco took Houston 3-1. St. Louis edged New York Mets 4-3. Pittsburgh shut out Milwaukee 3-0 and Philadelphia belted Cincinnati 7-1 after losing the first game 6-4 in 10 innings.

Wynn got his chance for a victory when a two-run homer by Charlie Maxwell tied the score in the top of the ninth.

Chuck Cottier rapped two homers, including a three-run shot in the sixth that snapped a 5-5 tie, and Don Lock and Chuck Hinton one each for the Senators in the first game as Ford lost his third, straight in quest of victory No. 17.

In the nightcap, Williams allowed only a double by Don Blasingame in the third, striking out 11, walking one and retiring the last 19 in order. The Yankees scored in the eighth on Tony Kubek's triple off Benny Daniels and a sacrifice fly by Bobby Richardson.
